Leave your footprint at Western

We all want a way to leave our mark on the world. Consider leaving your footprint at Western by purchasing a brick that will stand as a permanent testament in the main courtyard between the new Lunda, Coleman, and Kumm Centers. This is your opportunity to memorialize a friend or loved one; honor a teacher, child or parent; celebrate a special achievement; recognize your business; create a lasting memory of your time on campus; or congratulate a recent graduate.

Seldom has Western had the opportunity to publicly honor its benefactors on campus, but the new courtyard between the Lunda and Kumm Centers will provide the perfect setting.

In addition to the bricks, the constellation Eridanus, which means "the river," will be part of the new courtyard area. Made of steel and designed by our own students, these stars will create the winding path of the constellation and represent the river of knowledge that runs through the college.

Naming a star or a brick gives you the opportunity to leave a permanent legacy for future generations to see. They will stand as a testament to the ongoing support of alumni, staff and other friends of Western Technical College, certain to be admired and appreciated for many years to come!
